EXPERIENTIAL TRAVEL Hayes & Jarvis launches guide

HAYES & JARVIS has launched its first joint US, Mexico and Caribbean "destination guide", featuring new tours and regions such as Alaska and New York State.

The operator said the 2018/19 guide featured more visuals, expert tips and regional maps and had moved away from the more "traditional brochure" to keep the "experiential traveller in mind".

Other new destinations include Northern California and Puerto Rico, while Hayes & Jarvis has added more than 10 new hotels, including the Chable Resort Mexico.

Meanwhile, new tours include a seven-day escorted tour to Olympic National Park, Washington State

New tours include kayaking on Lake Crescent Olympic national park, Washington State and Vancouver Island in Canada from £3,879pp.

Included in the itinerary is kayaking on Lake Crescent and an orca whale-spotting boat trip with overnight accommodation in historic national park cabins and yurts on a B&B basis. The tour also includes ferry transfers between Canada and the US and return flights from Heathrow with British Airways.

Suzanne Harvey, general manager, USA, Canada, Caribbean and Mexico, said: "This destination guide is fantastic for planning a multi-stop adventure. Whether readers wish to island-hop across the Caribbean, complete a self-drive in America or combine two or more destinations from the US, Mexico, Caribbean or beyond, the possibilities available from this destination guide are endless."

Elsewhere, Hayes & Jarvis has added cruise offerings, including a 17-day New England and Eastern Canada itinerary on Regent Seven Seas' Navigator, starting from £12,669pp.
